- 1997 Degree in Law. Major in Business law, Universidad San Pablo CEU

He speaks Spanish, English and French.

Experience

As an expert in labour law, Daniel advises on all areas of labour relations, covering everything from day-to-day business matters to more complex issues regarding corporate transactions and the transfer of undertakings.

Specifically, Daniel has earned a good reputation in the market thanks to his extensive experience in matters such as collective dismissals, action and bargaining agreements, and intermediation.

In addition, he has a wealth of experience in senior management matters and judicial proceedings before the labour and administrative courts. He also has extensive technical knowledge regarding arbitral proceedings.

Among his clients are Spanish companies from many different industries and multinational foreign companies. He is the lawyer of reference for some of the most important businesses in the areas of new technologies, media and social networks. He also works with corporations from a wide range of sectors of great technical complexity such as the bioscience/biotechnology, telecommunications and broadband services. His experience with businesses from the tourism and hospitality sectors is also notable.

Academic and Publishing Collaborations

Daniel has considerable experience as a lecturer. Currently he lectures on Labour Law at IE Law School. He also regularly participates in conferences and seminars in English and Spanish as an expert in Labour law.

Daniel frequently writes articles for economic publications and professional journals. Furthermore, he also has a high profile in the media when it comes to addressing developments in employment law.
