Profile

Sarah joined Pérez-Llorca in 2021. Prior to joining, she worked in the Employment Law departments of two prestigious international firms.

Studies:

- 2021 Master's degree for Access to the Legal Profession, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid
- 2019 Joint Honours degree in Law and Political Science and Public Administration, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid

She speaks Spanish, English, French and Italian.

Experience

Sarah has experience advising national and international clients from different sectors on day-to-day employment matters (disciplinary and objective dismissals, penalties, labour and social security inspections, occupational accidents, pensions, extended leave, temporary/permanent incapacity, employment contracts, etc.)

Sarah also advises on collective bargaining matters, including, among others, the drafting of collective bargaining agreements, equality plans and remuneration audits and temporary workforce restructuring plans.

She has also participated in complex projects, such as: labour and social security audits (due diligences), protocols against workplace and sexual harassment, and digital disconnection policies.

She also frequently represents clients before the Mediation, Conciliation and Arbitration Service, before the Labour and Social Security Inspection Authorities, as well as in various stages of employment court proceedings in relation to matters such as dismissals, the infringement of fundamental rights, claims for payment, overtime and challenging administrative acts.
