Profile

Antonio Ruiz Salceda has been a partner in the Tax practice at Pérez-Llorca since January 2026, having joined the firm in June 2023. Antonio has over 17 years' experience in providing tax advice to domestic and international clients, with a particular focus on high net worth individuals, family groups, family businesses and family offices. His advisory services combine corporate and personal taxation, tax and succession planning, the structuring of investment arrangements, and support with strategic decisions that have tax implications, in contexts characterised by highly complex regulations, risk or particular scrutiny.

Studies:

- 2014 Master in Taxation and Tax Consultancy, CEF Centro de Estudios Financieros
- 2010 Degree in Market Research and Techniques, ESIC Business & Marketing School
- 2009 Executive Master's degree in Business Law, Centro de Estudios Garrigues & Harvard Law School
- 2005 Degree in Business Administration, Universidad Alfonso X El Sabio

He speaks Spanish and English.

Experience

Antonio regularly advises large companies, business owners, family groups, family offices and high-net-worth individuals on day-to-day tax matters and on particularly complex transactions. His experience includes corporate restructuring, M&A transactions, wealth and succession planning, property taxation, domestic and international investment structures, family business taxation and the management of high-stakes tax contingencies. He also supports private clients and corporate groups in making strategic decisions aimed at preserving, managing and passing on family and business wealth, combining technical rigour, a long-term perspective on wealth and a practical, business-oriented approach.

Academic and publishing collaborations

He has contributed to publications in his area of expertise, including the following: Chambers Global Practice Guides (Private Wealth, 2021).

Professional organisations

Member of the Madrid College of Economists.

Recognition

His practice has been recognised by international directories such as Best Lawyers® and ITR World Tax, including recognition in the fields of Economist & Asset Finance Law and being named a Rising Star (Real Estate).
